Amtrak train fares to drop after Labor Day weekend

By NAN PATTON EHRBRIGHT

Beginning Sept. 4 the round-trip fare between Waveland to New Orleans, La. on the Gulf Coast Limited will drop from $21 to $16.

John LeBourgeois, technical liaison to the chairman for the Louisiana-Mississippi-Alabama Rapid Rail Transit Commission, said Friday that Amtrak officials agreed to the fare reduction after monitoring ridership during the period rates were raised.

"It turned out we were really doing no better than we were at the lower fare with more riders," he said.

According to LeBourgeois, the train, which travels between Mobile, Ala. and New Orleans, La., carried about 9,000 passengers in May, 12,000 in June and 11,000 in July.

The current contract for the train's operation is due to expire Sept. 30, but high ridership has resulted in sufficient passenger revenues to continue service through Dec. 15 without additional funding.

Amtrak officials have agreed to continue service from Dec. 15 through Sept. 30, 1985, if the three states involved come up with the necessary funding.

Each state, LeBourgeois said, would need to provide $296,332 to pay Amtrak for operating the train, plus $55,000 each for operating expenses of the tri-state commission.

Mississippi may be reluctant to continue subsidizing the Gulf Coast Limited train service between Mobile, Ala. and New Orleans, La., Mississippi Legislative Budget Committee members indicated Thursday.

But on the same day a proposal to extend the run of the passenger train was approved by Louisiana's Interim Emergency Board.

The Board, which takes care of spending between legislative sessions, approved a request from the Louisiana Department of Transportation and Development to appropriate $351,332 to the tri-state commission to keep the train operating.

The request, which will now go to Louisiana legislators in a mail ballot, must be approved by two-thirds of the members of each house.

In Mississippi, the request for funding was made to the Legislative Budget Committee by Fred Wise, an Energy and Transportation Department spokesman.

Several committee members said they doubted they could get a new appropriation passed by the Senate.

House Appropriations Committee Chairman Ed Perry asked if the decision could be delayed for three months to study to passenger situation and see what the other states did.

Wise said it could, but that Amtrak would have to know by Dec. 15 whether the money would be available, even though the Mississippi Legislature does not meet until the following month.

LeBourgeois said he has been advised Alabama will consider the matter during a special session in September.

An earlier effort in Alabama to provide funding was 'pocket' vetoed by the governor, LeBourgeois said, because wording of the bill would have appropriated funds for the train even if Mississippi and Louisiana did not adopt similar legislation.

LeBourgeois said even though the Mississippi Legislature will not meet until after the Dec. 15 cutoff date, he believes Amtrak will approve the extension if Alabama and Louisiana approve funding and Mississippi legislative and executive leaders pledge to support a new allocation.

Injured driver of wrecked vehicle sought by police

By ELLIS CUEVAS

The driver of a Corvette wrecked on Dunbar Avenue who fled leaving a trail of blood was still being sought late Saturday by Bay St. Louis police officials, according to Capt. Robert Butler.

Butler gave this account of the accident.

"Patrolman Scott Anderson was traveling east on Hwy. 90 at about 2:15 a.m. Saturday when he spotted the headlights of a vehicle on the Bay Bridge traveling east at apparently a high rate of speed."

"As the vehicle passed Second Street Anderson proceeded to follow. The car turned north on Dunbar and then east on Highland where the driver turned out his lights," Butler continued.

"The vehicle then turned south on Ranch, east on Esplanade, then north again on Dunbar."

"At this point Anderson estimated his speed at 150-160 miles per hour," Butler said.

"As Anderson rounded the curve past Felicity Street he saw the vehicle upside down in the middle of Dunbar Avenue," Butler added.

Butler said he arrived at the scene about a minute after Anderson.

"A Cedar Point resident who was traveling south on Dunbar told us he saw the vehicle, a red Corvette, flying through the air, and then a white male running down Melody Lane," Butler reported.

Butler said the road showed skid marks 318 feet before the Corvette began to flip and blood was in the area.

"A trail of blood was spotted in the woods and across driveways on Melody Lane when a search of the area was conducted by Bay police and Hancock County Sheriff's Department deputies, who searched the area again after daylight," Butler stated.

Chief Douglas Williams said the vehicle was reported stolen Saturday morning by Ronald Artigues of 546 Highland Dr., Bay St. Louis.

Butler stated the vehicle's tag was so new it had not been entered yet on the computer.

Bay Police Department Investigator Joe Pica and Patrolman Jessie Bennett also assisted in the search.

Shrimp boat burns at Bayou Cadet

By DENA BISNETTE

A shrimp boat, the Theresa Lynn of Gulfport, caught fire in the Mississippi Sound near Bayou Cadet early Thursday when its battery apparently exploded.

According to a report from Waveland Police Officer James Varnell, the crew on the boat when the accident occurred shortly before 8 a.m. consisted of Richard Talley, Douglas Talley and William Talley of Long Beach. The three escaped without injury.

Richard and William Talley told authorities they were culling their catch when they noticed smoke in the boat's cabin.

They said they broke a back window to reach their brother Douglas Talley, who was sleeping, and threw him out of the boat and into the water.

When the Talleys opened the boat's hole, the cabin was engulfed in flame and they used extinguishers in an unsuccessful attempt to put it out.

The fire was eventually extinguished through the use of a pump by the Lady A, one of the first boats to arrive at the accident scene. Another boat, the Miss Rachelle, picked up the Theresa Lynn's crew.

A fourth boat, the Captain Budweiser, towed the boat into the Bayou Cadet turnaround, according to Varnell's report.

The Clermont Harbor Volunteer Fire Department was summoned to stand by with rescue equipment. Its services were combined with the Coast Guard's when the Theresa Lynn reignited at about 9 a.m.

Peter Lastelle, assistant fire chief, said the boat was too far out in Bayou Cadet to reach it with a stream of water from the fire engine on shore.

"We gave the nozzle to the crew of the Coast Guard boat and they dragged it out until they could reach the burning boat. We have 300 feet of hose and they had to take it all the way out," he said. Lastelle said it took about 90 minutes to put the fire out, partly because of the unusual firefighting arrangements being used.

Also assisting were several other boats and Mississippi Marine Resources, Varnell said.

Marriage license fees to be reduced Tuesday

By NAN PATTON EHRBRIGHT
Getting married in Hancock County will cost $4 less as of next Tuesday than it has in the past.

Circuit Clerk John D. Rutherford Jr. says beginning Sept. 4 a marriage license will cost $6.

State Auditor Ray Mabius believes that is the maximum price Mississippi law allows circuit clerks to charge.

Hancock County has been charging $10 for the license.

Mississippi circuit clerks operate under a fee system, in which office operations are paid from fee collections and the clerk takes the surplus as net salary.

According to an Audit Department spokesman, statewide the license fees have ranged from $6 to $11.

Rutherford said he received a memo from Mabius' office Friday.

Some clerks, he said, do not agree with Mabius' interpretation of the law.

"But that's what we'll charge in Hancock County," he said.

"GO FOR IT!"—A three-mile race begins a back-to-school summerfest Saturday at Herlihy Street Park in Waveland. Clarence Harris, left, organizer of the day-long event, told the 27 entrants in the race that participating was more important than winning. "Just try to cross the finish line," he told the youngsters. "If you don't win this year, you can try again next year." The day's activities also included Double Dutch jump-roping and a breakdancing contest. (Staff photo by Nan Patton Ehrbright)

One-stop voter registration plans move closer to fruition in Hancock

By NAN PATTON EHRBRIGHT

Hancock County Circuit Clerk John D. Rutherford Jr. met Friday with Bay St. Louis Registrar Eddie Favre and Waveland Registrar Arcelyn Dastugue to complete plans for one-stop voter registration.

Rutherford said general procedures have been worked out and he hopes to have the system in place by Sept. 15.

The 1984 Legislature amended registration statutes to eliminate the necessity of registering both at county and city offices in order to be eligible to vote in all elections.

But city clerks must be commissioned by the State Election Commission, comprised of the governor, secretary of state and attorney general, before they can register voters for county, state and national elections.

Rutherford said application for those commissions has been sent to the secretary of state's office.

In addition, the group is working on a sample registration form suitable for both county and city use.

Rutherford said he has attended two meetings regarding the change in the statutes—one in Tupelo and one in Jackson.

"There was a lot more to implementation than we originally thought," he said, "but I think everybody is getting in gear now."

At this time there are no plans to send registrars out into the county to register voters, Rutherford said.

In order to do that, there must be a request to the board of supervisors, he said, and there has been no such request.

In another voting procedure change, Attorney General Edwin Pittman announced Friday the U.S. Justice Department has approved use of optical mark scanners to tabulate votes in Mississippi.

Optical mark scanners are designed to speed vote counting.

Pittman said his office has received notification that a new law allowing boards of supervisors to buy the vote-counting equipment has been approved under the Voting Rights Act.

This does not mean counties may start using scanners immediately, Pittman emphasized.

"The Justice Department views this bill as enabling legislation only," he said.

"Even though the purchase of equipment has been approved, each county that buys the machines must get its own separate pre-clearance from the Justice Department because use of the machines is a change in voting procedure, which under the Voting Rights Act must be approved individually."

Hancock County Election Commissioner Charles F. Gottschalk said the scanners, which can read paper ballots, have been displayed at election commissioner seminars.

"They are very unusual and very handy things, but very expensive," he said.

Gottschalk said the scanners would be useful for 'very large' counties. But they cost about $38,000 each, he said.

"As I recall, Hancock County paid about $45,000 for its whole mechanized voting system."

The scanners just aren't needed in Hancock County, he said.

Correction

In Thursday's article about the young people who visited the Saltillo, Mexico, mission organized by Fr. Patrick Quinn, the names of the people in the last row of the accompanying photograph were omitted from the caption.

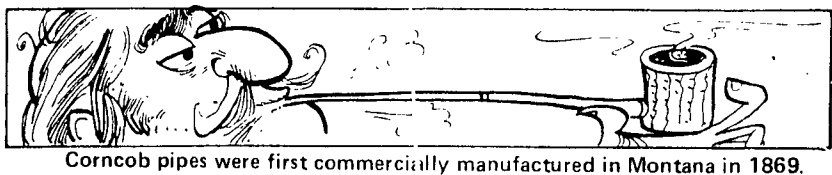

Those people included Charlie West, Rev. Alexander Moore, Tom Eldringhoff, Gilbert O'Flynn, Leon Smith, Lorenzo Stallworth, Dionne Travis, Faye Bultman, Greg Mitchell, Edward Ott and Andre Black. Bobby Parker was included in the group but was not in the photograph.

Two numbers in the story were also incorrect. Instead of seven Hancock Countians visiting the Saltillo Mission, the story should have said seven groups totaling 39 Hancock Countians.

Also, where the story said 90 families attended the fiesta at the end of the mission trip, it should have read 90 people including members of the youth groups and local families.

Secretary of State to meet with county school officials to discuss Section 16 lands

By NAN PATTON EHRBRIGHT
Secretary of State Dick Molpus will meet with county school officials later this month to discuss their responsibilities and liabilities under 16th Section laws.

The first session will be at Hattiesburg on Sept. 19, the second at Forest on Sept. 11 and the third at Greenwood on Sept. 13.

Recently Molpus announced his office will no longer accept Section 16 land leases without forms to show the worth of the property.

In an Aug. 16 letter addressed to school superintendents and board presidents, Secretary of State Dick Molpus said that "to assure that adequate compensation is received for all uses of 16th Section school trust land, appraisals must be completed prior to the negotiation of new leases of this trust property."

"Effective Aug. 27," the letter continued, "all leases forwarded to this office, except those subject to bid, must be accompanied by proof of appraisal for the specific property referenced in the lease."

"Those leases subject to bid must be accompanied by proof of advertising notice attached to the lease."

Under state law, the 16th section of each county was reserved for public schools.

Revenues from those public lands must go for the schools.

Sixty-seven of Mississippi's 82 counties still have Section 16 lands totaling 662,000 acres which now generate $28 million in revenues.

The appraisal requirement is the second step taken to assure the state's public schools receive a fair return on their Section 16 land leases.

The first step was a 1978 reform act requiring that school lands be classified and leased for uses that would bring the most money for the schools.

Molpus announced his program for increased school revenues this spring and developed forms for local officials to submit proof of appraised value.

The appraised value may be determined by the tax assessor, an independent appraiser or by comparative analysis.

In his letter to school officials Molpus said he appreciated their prompt and timely filing of abstracts, classification forms, certificates and leases.

"I commend you for the accuracy and professional appearances of these documents," he said.

Labor Day's passing will mean all schools in the area will be open.

Many students will be walking or riding bicycles back and forth each day. We urge all motorists to please be extremely careful during the morning and evening hours.

Crossing guards are operating at many schools and speed limits are reduced at schools with extra patrolmen in the areas.

Because many students have subjects other than traffic on their minds while traveling to school, they may forget and step out in front of a vehicle and be injured.

Motorists should not pass school busses while loading or unloading students.

We know this is the law, but there are some motorists who fail to obey it.

So, please drive carefully, especially near our many schools.

Fireworks should be exploding tonight in Waveland at the Civic Association's Annual Fireworks Spectacular.

Admission is free and spectators should be able to view the fireworks from just about anywhere along Waveland's beach.

Also, don't forget to make your pledge to the Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy Telethon being sponsored by the Waveland Civic Association.

Volunteers will be on hand from 5 p.m. tonight through 6 p.m. Labor Day and can be reached at either 467-9248 or 467-4134.

We received a telephone call from Mrs. Iona LaFontaine telling us she had witnessed a tremendous brightness in the sky early Monday morning.

Mrs. LaFontaine reported she was traveling on the Lower Bay Road between Clermont Harbor and Lakeshore at about 1:30 a.m. when the sky suddenly became very bright.

The Lakeshore resident said the incident really put a scare into her, as it happened near a house which was reportedly haunted many years ago.

Apparently she had seen the results of a meteor which was reported by a Dedeaux Community resident at approximately the same time.

Constitution Week dually celebrates American freedoms

The United States will be celebrating the 200th anniversary of the drafting of the Constitution in 1787.

Preparations are already under way for this important celebration. The Constitution was drafted Sept. 17, 1787, ratified in 1788, and took effect in 1789.

Throughout the United States posters are being placed in prominent places by 3,155 chapters of the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution.

These posters state: "Observe Constitution Week, Sept. 17-23.

"The society, a patriotic one, strives to bring to the attention of the populace the importance of this unique document designed to give all American citizens unknown to any other country in the world: freedom of the press, of speech, of worship, and the right of assembly.

Senator William F. Knowland in 1956 is responsible for designating the period beginning Sept. 17 and ending Sept. 23 as Constitution Week.

His Resolution No. 105 was written in law 915 that year. Since that date the president of the United States annually issued a proclamation inviting all citizens to observe the week in schools, churches and other suitable places.

Governors of the several states also issue similar proclamations and local mayors and other dignitaries also draft proclamations.

News media also urge citizens to pay special attention to the Federal Constitution and the advantages of American citizenship.

The Friendship Oak DAR Chapter is making an all-out effort to involve the citizens of Hancock County in Constitution Week.

They are sponsoring several contests designed to appeal to people of all ages and include a prize for the best poster; the best decorated commercial window, the best spot announcements, and the best paragraphs on any phase of the Constitution.

Handsomeness flag kits, donated by public spirited institutions, will be awarded the winners. All together there will be nine prizes.

Fly your flag! Count your Blessings! Read your constitution! Be a caring citizen! It's good to be an American. "This land is your land—This land is my land"—let's love it and keep it free.

LABOR DAY TELETHON—Waveland Civic Association President J.A. Lagasse Jr. and Vice-President J. Les Galivan display a poster giving the telephone numbers for the local drive for the annual Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon for the Muscular Dystrophy Association. Association members will be taking pledges at 467-4134, 467-9248 and 467-9249 from 5 p.m. Sunday through 6 p.m. Monday. They ask your help in topping last year's contribution. Do speeding boats spoil the environment?

Attendance urged at public hearing on the issue

Aug. 29, 1984

Dear Editor:

My sincere thanks for your excellent coverage of the Board of Supervisors' meetings at which boating speed limits were set for Hancock County waters.

On Tuesday, Sept. 4 at 7 p.m. at the Hancock County Courthouse, all citizens are asked to attend an open hearing on this subject.

Considerate, knowledgeable boaters are always interested in boating safety. Such boaters never cause wakes to erode the banks of our beautiful rivers and bays, nor do they intentionally endanger wildlife and human life.

Therefore, all citizens involved in water activities in Hancock County, please show your environmental concerns with your presence.

Nature (our game, our fish, our woods) is still the quiet sanctuary that leads newcomers to our county.

More speeding boats, more erosion and less knowledge of boating safety and courtesy are impairing the beauty and allure of Hancock County.

We must preserve it. Let us acknowledge a lesson from the first Americans and learn to live in harmony with Mother Earth.

May I quote from John Muir, the famed naturalist, "When one tugs at a single thing in nature, he finds it attached to the rest of the world."

Let's preserve Hancock County's beauty! Keep the speed limits. Save what we have left of Nature's Legacy. Come to the County Courthouse Tuesday at 7 p.m.

Thank you again.

Very truly,

Kinta Kergosien Maloney

Is a mule a 'he' of a 'she'?

Dear Editor

I am puzzled. Perhaps a reader of The Sea Coast Echo might be able to enlighten me. It's a "sex question: When is a mule a "she" and when is a mule a "he"?"

The following paragraphs from my 12-years-old granddaughter might explain my interest:

"Dear Nana. We are on our way to Zion National Park. We just left Grand Canyon. Yesterday we went for a mule ride down the Grand Canyon. It was real pretty.

Chrissy got a mule named Dottie and I got one named Trot. They were sisters. Chrissy's mule loved to eat and every time we got to a real sharp corner he would start eating and Chrissy would feel like she was going to fall off a cliff. She kept yelling at her. It was hilarious.

My mule loved to walk on the very edge—which terrified me. When we were near the bottom mine started to buck. I am not kidding, I was terrified.

My Mom's mule was named Paleface and he was real nice. The scenery was real pretty. The first day we were there it poured. There were clouds all over. It was kinda pretty that way. The clouds surrounded the cliffs—and it looked like Heaven.

Well, gotta go! Miss Ya. Love Betsy Bell."

Since the pronoun referring to the mules changed from time to time I am comforted with the knowledge that she was correct at least half the time—but which half?

Harrison County Engineer to compile damage claims on Vidalia, Ladner Roads

Letter to the Editor:

It has come to the attention of the Harrison Board of Supervisors that many citizens have suffered damage to their windshields and headlights as a result of the loose gravel being used on the Vidalia and E. Ladner roads resal project.

The public should know that these projects are State Aid road projects which are being completed in accordance with State Aid road specifications, and under the directions of the engineers.

However, because of the extensive number of complaints I have received I have consulted with the other members of the Board of Supervisors and it is our opinion that the specifications required a more adequate notice by the contractor to the traveling public using this road.

We have, therefore, directed the attorney for the board to place the Bush Construction Company on notice on behalf of all of the citizens damaged, and on Friday, Aug. 31 the board adopted a resolution directing the Harrison County Engineer at the Courthouse in Gulfport to compile these claims and assist citizens in making their claims for consideration.

We have further instructed our attorney to notify the construction company to comply with adequate warning specifications in the future and that we expect a strict compliance of the specifications in that regard.

In the meantime, we ask the traveling public to understand that under the laws of the State of Mississippi, Harrison County cannot compensate the people damaged but we will assist the public in every way possible in seeing that their claims are satisfied by the construction company.

September is National Sight-Saving Month

"Look Mom. I can see my feet—and they're big."

Kevin, the five-year-old kindergartener who made this discovery after he put on his 'new glasses, had not known until then what he should see—only that he could see.

His mother had become aware that he was sitting close to the TV screen and that he was blinking and rubbing his eyes a lot. But the alert that Kevin needed to see an eye doctor came out of a vision screening in his class conducted by trained volunteers of the National Society to Prevent Blindness (NSPB).

The note from school said that Kevin couldn't read the letters on the line of the eye chart appropriate to his age and that he was having trouble seeing the blackboard. When the eye doctor checked him out, he discovered that the youngster had severe astigmatism, and prescribed lenses to correct this defect.

September is National Sight-Saving Month. As the school year begins, teams of volunteer vision screeners from NSPB affiliates around the country are scheduling vision checkups not only in elementary schools but also in nursery schools, day care centers, at health fairs and community sites, ranging from shopping malls to zoos, which attract families.

These screenings become an increasingly important way of alerting parents to children's eye problems in a period of school budget crunches that may cut back vital health services, financial belt tightening by families, and sometimes the inability of working parents to spot problems.

"One out of every 20 children, ages three to six, is already coping with vision problems that, if left untreated, may deny them a lifetime of good sight," says B.R. (Tip) Tipton, vice president, Program of the Society's Mississippi Affiliate. "And for school age children, the ratio of those who need eye care is one in four."

Of special concern is a condition called amblyopia or "lazy eye" which must be detected and treated by the time a child is six. Ignored, the "lazy eye" does not develop normally through lack of use. The child gets along by seeing mainly out of the other eye.

In later years, the condition may lead to a permanent loss of vision or even blindness in the "lazy eye." Many older people—perhaps members of your own family—have vision problems stemming from a "lazy eye" that was not diagnosed and treated.

Today's youngsters are lucky. The condition, if caught in time, can be corrected. Treatment is to temporarily patch the stronger eye, forcing the weaker one to develop. Eye exercises and glasses may also help.

For parents who wish to check their preschoolers' vision, or arrange to have their vision checked through a free screening session, NSPB makes available a free, non-diagnostic home eye test kit.

For more than a decade the Home Eye Test for Preschoolers, available in English and Spanish, has enabled parents to check the vision of children too young to recognize alphabet letters by means of a simple, fun game.

Grants from foundations, organizations and individuals have made possible its free distribution to insure good vision for American's children. Copies are available on request from the National Society to Prevent Blindness—Mississippi Affiliate, 115 Broodmoor Dr., Jackson, Ms.

MISSISSIPPI TREASURY REPORT

Bill Cole, State Treasurer

State Treasurer Bill Cole announced today that he is looking for nearly 3,400 Mississippians who have a total of almost $3 million coming to them from Unclaimed Property Accounts reported to the Treasury Department from various banks, savings and loan associations, insurance companies, credit unions, and other businesses.

"We are working hard to reunite people with their lost or forgotten money," Cole said, noting that the Treasury has published an 8-page tabloid as part of the effort to locate missing owners. The tabloid will be available at more than 250 public libraries.

"The main purpose of the Unclaimed Property Act is to locate the real owners of these abandoned funds. Since the act was enacted the Treasury Department has been successful in returning approximately $1 million to the rightful owners."

"In the past, unclaimed and dormant accounts in financial and other institutions were either charged off to the institution with the owner or heirs losing their rights to the property, or the account was decreased over the years through various charges. Dormant accounts and unclaimed funds accrued to the benefit of the holding institutions."

With the passage of the Unclaimed Property Act in 1982 these institutions now must report and turn over the State Treasury any unclaimed accounts covered by the law.

"There is no time limit on filing a claim. The State never assumes ownership of any of these funds but rather holds them in custody available for claim by the rightful owner."

Should your name or the name of a relative appear, contact the State Treasurer's Office, Unclaimed Property Division, P.O. Box 138, Jackson, Ms 39205.

SBA

Focus on Small Business

U.S. Small Business Administration

By Dorothy A. Overall
Public Information
Biloxi Branch

Q.—More and more special interest groups are actively trying to influence government policy. Who speaks for small business?

A.—A growing number of small business trade associations are working to influence federal and state legislators and are speaking up on small business issues and policies.

Within the Federal Government, the Office of Advocacy in the U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) is charged with being an ombudsman for small business, advocating policies and legislation which will help small business owners.

The Office of Advocacy, headed by a chief counsel appointed by the President, works with other federal agencies, for example, so that regulations and statutes either help small businesses or have a minimal negative impact.

The Office of Advocacy also works with state governments. More and more states are setting up their own small business agencies.

The SBA office offers a toll-free telephone service to help small business men and women who have problems with government.

SBA's "Answer Desk" receives several hundred calls a day from persons seeking help and guidance. The toll-free number is 800/368-5855.

Q.—I think I have the personality traits necessary to succeed if I decide to go into business for myself. But is there any kind of checklist I can use?

A.—Yes, there is.

The Small Business Administration publishes a Management Aid (No. 2.016), called "Checklist for Going into Business." It's available, free, by writing to SBA, GNL Building, 2nd Floor, Biloxi, Ms 39530.

This publication asks you to answer a few questions so that you can get an idea of what you think of yourself. Try the following as samplers. If you agree more with those statements in parentheses, you may be a poor candidate for business ownership:

"I like to take charge of things and see them through. (There's always some eager beaver around wanting to show how smart he is. I say let him.)"

"I do things on my own. Nobody has to tell me to get going. (I don't put myself out unless I have to.)"

"I like people. I can get along with just about anybody. (Most people irritate me.)"

"I can get people to join in when I start something. (I let someone else get things moving, then I go along if I feel like it.)"

"I can keep going as long as I need to. I don't mind working hard for something I want. (I'll work hard for a while, but when I've had enough, that's it.)"

"I can make up my mind in a hurry if I have to. (I don't like to be the one who has to decide things.)"

"My health and energy never run down. (I run out of energy sooner than do most of my friends.)"

SBA advises you to have your spouse and friends go over the checklist with you so that you can get some better personal insight. If others consistently brand you with a bad trait, assume they are right; ask what they think you should do about it.

Such help could save your business even though you might know your product well and possess all the other characteristics necessary to succeed.

USM faculty/musicians to appear on television

Baritone Alfred Anderson and guitarist John DeChiaro, both faculty of the University of Southern Mississippi and internationally acclaimed musicians, will appear on Good Morning South Mississippi Sept. 5.

Anderson has appeared in opera houses in Europe and in Hong Kong, as well as with the New York City Opera and dozens of regional opera companies in America.

DeChiaro, professor of guitar at USM, has presented four solo recitals at Carnegie Hall and in concerts throughout the United States.

He is currently under a recording contract with Towerhill Records and two recordings featuring his transcriptions of the piano music of Erik Satie and Maurice Ravel have been released to date. The scores to these transcriptions have been published by the Willis Music Company in Ohio.

This season DeChiaro will continue his appearances on college campuses throughout the United States.

Volunteer attorneys to man free legal line

Wednesday, Sept. 5, from 6 to 8 p.m., a staff of volunteer attorneys will answer legal questions from the general public at 1-374-4160, which is toll-free within the six southern counties of Mississippi and TTY/TDD-equipped for the deaf.

Although the number is toll-free, calls made from a pay telephone are not and must be made collect.

This service is sponsored by the Harrison County Young Lawyers, the South Mississippi Planning and Development District's Area Agency on Aging and South Mississippi Legal Services Corporation.

The "First Wednesday Legal Line" offers an opportunity for anyone to call for legal information and referral services for specific problems.

The service is especially intended for elderly individuals, handicapped individuals and low-income individuals who may not have immediate access to an attorney and may not know whether they need legal assistance but anyone with a question about the law is encouraged to call.

This month's volunteer attorneys will include Cecil Burton Jones Jr., Michael Knipe, Charles Leger and Stanton Fountain.

Senator Smith authors new version of drinking age hike legislation

Senator Martin T. Smith of Poplarville has authored a bill to increase the minimum drinking age in Mississippi to 21 and to strengthen the enforcement provisions in the law.

Twenty-six senators joined Smith in co-authoring the bill which will be introduced during the 1985 regular session of the Legislature.

"This bill is a follow-through on the original Senate bill which was introduced in 1984. The original bill raised the age to 21, but the compromise version, which passed the Senate 44-6 increased the age to 19. However, no bill became law because the Senate bill was not passed out of a House of Representatives Ways and Means subcommittee," said Smith who is chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee which handled the bill this year.

"The original Senate position was that we need to raise the drinking age to 21 in order to cut down on the alarming number of alcohol-related traffic accidents and deaths among teens. We recognize that we must have strict enforcement provisions and penalties in order for the law to be effective and these are in the bill," Smith said.

The bill, which will be put before the Senate in January, is identical to the one which passed this year except for the higher age limit.

In addition, the bill makes more stringent the penalties for sale to a minor, possession by a minor, use of false identification by a minor to obtain beer or light wine, and provides that any person who knowingly makes available the beverages to an underage person is guilty of a misdemeanor.

One opposes sanctuary at hearing

By DENA BISNETTE

One man out of the 27 people who attended a 45-minute public hearing Thursday night opposed the establishment of a bird and game sanctuary in Shoreline Park.

Teddy Pruitt, a resident of Atlantic Street, told the board of supervisors the request for a sanctuary was based on "fear," alleging that those who signed the petition asking for the sanctuary did so because they want guns kept out of the area.

He was the only one voicing opposition after the supervisors asked for a show of hands from those opposed.

Pruitt said he has constructed a legal backstop in his yard, which is on a dead-end street, and uses it to sight in his guns before hunting season.

"I'm tired of going out to sight in one of my guns and having a policeman show up at my door," he explained.

Although he does not hunt in Shoreline Park, he expressed concern that establishment of a sanctuary takes away his right to fire a weapon on his own property.

Board attorney Walter Gex III agreed that laws pertaining to sanctuaries usually assume that an individual is hunting illegally if found firing or possessing a weapon or with a hunting dog in a sanctuary.

However, Gex said the proposed sanctuary in Shoreline Park would be an exception because, as stated in the public hearing notice, "...such possession shall not alone and without further evidence be prima facie presumed to be a violation..."

Sheriff Ronald Peterson, who also attended the hearing, suggested that Pruitt telephone the sheriff's office before doing any shooting in his yard.

Ordinarily, the sheriff's department investigates numerous complaints of shooting in populated areas during hunting season, but Peterson told Pruitt if he called first there would be no need for an officer to go to his house if someone complained.

The concerns voiced by those in favor of the sanctuary included the possibility a child or pet might be shot and the danger from shots fired too close to houses.

"There is no place in Shoreline Park somebody can fire without being within 150 feet of a house," said Shoreline Park resident James Ashley.

Like others at the hearing, Ashley told the board he feels the area is now too populated for hunting.

Others expressed complaints about finding mutilated small game, such as rabbits and squirrels, on Shoreline Park roadways and the killing of domestic birds.

"I feel like I should have a right to keep the things I want and need in my yard, but I don't have any chickens anymore," said Rose Miller. "All of my chickens have been shot."

If a sanctuary is created, Gex said it will become the duty of sheriff's department to enforce sanctuary rules and to prevent similar incidents from occurring in the future.

The board is expected take action on the matter at Tuesday's meeting.

Supervisors rescind waterway speed limits

By DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors has rescinded its order establishing waterway speed limits.

Although the speed limits caused some controversy, particularly among a group of citizens of the Rotten Bayou area who petitioned the board to leave the waterways there without limits, the order was rescinded because a procedural error was made when they were set.

However, the supervisors still plan to hold a public hearing on the matter at 7 p.m. Tuesday.

The board voted about eight weeks ago to establish the speed limits on canals in Shoreline Park and parts of Diamondhead including the Rotten Bayou area. The limits were also placed on the Jourdan River west of Hwy. 603.

The speed limits were set at 5 mph and 10 mph by the supervisors, which according to board attorney Walter Gex III is where the error lies.

Gex told the board at its meeting Thursday that the limits should have been set by the Bureau of Marine Resources.

Rescinding the order brought up the question of what to do about Tuesday's hearing, which has already been advertised.

Board president A.A. "Dolph" Kellar suggested cancelling the hearing. "I'd rather get out of this mess right now. We should never have gotten into it in the first place."

Beat One Supervisor Bert Courge, however, felt that few people would hear about a cancellation by Tuesday. "Even if we put a notice in the Sunday paper, most of them would still miss it," he explained.

The board decided to hold the hearing anyway and use it to gather public input on the speed limit issue. Gex and a representative of BMR will be present to explain the correct procedure for setting speed limits on waterways in the county.

INFANT-PARENT RELATIONS

A program exploring the importance of infant-parent relationships can be seen at 9 a.m. Thursday, Sept. 6, on Mississippi ETV.

"Right from the Start" examines the issues of hospital vs. at-home delivery, problems encountered by premature infants and what parents can do when they are unable to respond to their infants.

The program presents what scientists have discovered about bonding and attachment between mothers and babies and focuses on some of the practices and institutions in today's society that can either encourage or hinder this process.

The program explores the extent of a child's awareness in the first hours after birth and the effects on a child if an intimate attachment with one person is not formed.

TV OPERA

Two Puccini operas presented from the ancient, historic Arena at Verona, Italy, will be broadcast on Mississippi ETV at 7 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 9 and 16.

"From Verona: Turandot" on Sept. 9 features soprano Ghena Dimitrova in the title role as the beautiful Eastern princess Turandot who puts each of her suitors to a test: if he fails to answer three riddles, he dies; if he succeeds, he wins the crown of China and the princess as his bride.

The Arena at Verona dates back to 1 A.D. The first contemporary musical performance staged there was Rossini's "Santa Alliance," which he presented in 1822. In 1913 the Opera Festival Season began on a regular basis with the production of "Aida." Since then, many world-renowned singers have appeared at Verona, including Maria Callas, Luciano Pavarotti, Kiri te Kanawa and Raina Kabaivanska. Usually, the Arena, which seats 25,000 is filled to capacity every night during its July-August season.

Miss Melanie Bigham, Pheba, niece of the groom, was flower girl and Master Davey McReynolds, cousin of the bride of Starkville, was ring bearer.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father and given in marriage by her parents. She wore a formal gown of bridal organza. The empire bodice featured a high collar of venise lace motifs, sheer organza yoke and a deep ruffle of English Wedgewood lace highlighted with sequins. The bishop sleeves ended in cuffs of English Wedgewood lace and venise motifs. The bouffant skirt featured three tiers of chantilly and Wedgewood lace and extended into a chapel-length train. A caplet of venise lace and pearls held her veil of bridal illusion.

She carried a cascade of white glamelias and ivy tied with satin ribbon.

The attendants wore floor-length dresses of seafoam taffeta, each featuring fitted princess bodice with portrait neckline ruffle extending into large rosettes on the shoulder. The skirt was a flared dirndl with sash tied in a bow in the back.

Matching tulle circlets centered with taffeta rosettes were worn in their hair. They each carried a single peach glad tied with matching streamers. The flower girl was attired in a similar seafoam taffeta full-length gown and headress. She carried a small peach glad.

Lynn Bigham served his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Brad and Lonnie Ray of Bay St. Louis, brothers of the bride; Emmett Bigham Jr. of Pheba, brother of the groom; and the bride's cousin Joseph Ray Miles of Starkville.

Ushers were Wallace O. Miles Sr. of Bay St. Louis, uncle of the bride and William T. Murphy Jr. of Starkville, cousin of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Ray chose a floor-length gown of aqua chiffon with high banded neckline, empire bodice with capelet and accordion-pleated skirt. Mrs. Bigham wore a beige two-piece dress. Both mothers wore white glamelias corsages.

Following the ceremony the couple was honored with a reception in the church fellowship hall.

Attending the guest register was Miss Connie McReynolds of Starkville, cousin of the bride. The registry table was covered with a hand crocheted cloth made by the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Maude Grimes. The table featured a Victoria Ashlea original porcelain bride doll which played "The Wedding

MR. AND MRS. PATRICK NORMAN BIGHAM

March," a gift of the bride's aunt and cousin, Mrs. Maxine McCulloch and Mrs. Dianne Bailey.

The bride's table was centered with a candelabra arrangement of peach glads, carnations and baby's breath. The cloth was draped with cascades of white grapes and baby's breath tied with white lace streamers. The three-tier wedding cake featured a fountain-floral arrangement and was topped with an arrangement of spun sugar flowers and doves. The cake was served by her aunt, Mrs. Lavenia Miles, Bay St. Louis, and her cousin, Ms. Lonnie Miles of Starkville.

The groom's chocolate sheet cake was decorated with a shrimp boat and was served by Mrs. Rita Tutral, Ocean Springs, aunt of the bride.

Punch was served by Mrs. Maxine McCulloch of Shreveport, aunt of the bride, Mrs. Dianne Bailey, cousin of the bride, of Shreveport, served coffee.

Circulating hostesses were cousins of the bride, Mrs. Rita Mae McReynolds, Mrs. Dicye Murphy, Mrs. Brenda Miles and Mrs. Mary Miles, all of Starkville.

Rice girls were the groom's niece, Julie Bigham of Pheba and cousins of the bride, Melanie Murphy and Molly Miles of Starkville and Meredith Tutral of Ocean Springs.

The couple will make their home in Bay St. Louis.

Pre-nuptial parties

A seafood brunch at the David McReynolds' home on North Jackson St., Starkville, honored the bride and her attendants on the day before the wedding. Hostesses were cousins of the bride, Mrs. Rita McReynolds, Mrs. Brenda Miles, Mrs. Mary Miles and Mrs. Dicye Murphy and her aunt, Mrs. Lavenia Miles of Bay St. Louis.

The family of the groom hosted the rehearsal dinner in the First Baptist Church fellowship hall in West Point on the eve of the wedding.

Casino Bingo is available at 48 National Supermarkets located in Southern Louisiana, Southern Mississippi and Mobile, Alabama. Game is scheduled to begin September 2, 1984 and end December 1, 1984. However, it officially ends upon distribution of all game tickets. When the total number of approved winners of any of the game prizes (as set forth in the odds chart) is achieved, then that specific prize category will be terminated without further notice. All prizes must be claimed within 14 days of termination as announced in our advertisements or they will be forfeited. This promotion may be repeated.
 These odds are in effect for 30 days after start. Updated odds will be posted in all participating stores and in weekly advertising thereafter.
